Mobile Phones

I may use my mobile phone to take observational photos of your child for their 'Learning Journey'. When I have visitors in my setting I will ask them to turn their phone off during the duration of their visit to ensure your child's security. I will never leave your child alone with a visitor.

Cameras

I will seek permission from parents to enable photos to be taken. Your child will be observed to keep a record of their development for their journey; they may also feature in another child's journey if the children are interacting. I will ask you to complete a 'Photo Permission Form' to enable me to use photos.

The photos and learning journey will be the property of the child and yourself and will not be kept once the child leaves my care. The photos will be kept in a file on the computer which is password protected and only I know the password. Images will not be distributed or published without the parents' consent.

Social Networking

No images of children and their families will put on my private facebook or any other social networking site without permission. I do have an 'Allie's Angels Childminding' facebook page but will not publish any photos without your permission. (see Social Media Policy)
